Cigarette Additive Investigators

Welcome to CAI. You have been selected for your undercover detective skills to discover the truth about cigarette additives and what they are doing to the body. As you know, there are hundreds of additives put into cigarettes. We currently know that over 69 additives are carcinogens (cancer-causing) and more are being discovered every day. Your job - - and we hope you will accept it - - is to uncover as much information as you can about cigarette additives and leak that information to the press thus saving lives all over the world. We are counting on you! You may want start your investigation with the World Wide Web since this is a world wide problem.

Below is special CAI Paper which will help you collect your information. When you are ready to leak the information, summarize your notes into the form of a press release which can be secretly dropped on to your teacher's desk. The teacher will take it from there. Good Luck!
